

A large, empty grid table with many rows and columns, likely a ledger or spreadsheet. The grid is composed of numerous small, uniform cells, suggesting a high-capacity data entry form or a blank accounting ledger. The table occupies the majority of the page area below the header information.

